

CC Newsletter August 2013

Connecting Cities Events 2013

The Connecting Cities Events are city-to-city live interventions which will happen from August to November 2013 under the curatorial topic of Networked City. The CC Events are embedded in local programmes like the Media Facades Festival in Helsinki, Ikono On Air Festival in Berlin, Bauhausfest in Dessau, Ars Electronica Festival in Linz, Amber Festival in Istanbul, Nuit Blanche in Brussels etc.

The urban media art projects of the 2013 CC Events have been produced by our 18 partner institutions and will circulate within the Connecting Cities Network on an interconnected infrastructure of urban screens, media facades and projection walls.

Soon our website will be re-launched with a live stream of the art projects, so if you cannot come to any of our venues, go to and become part of the events!

More information about our upcoming Connecting Cities Events in September, October and November will follow soon via the CC newsletter.

Ars Electronica Center, Ars-Electronica-Strasse 1, Linz, Austria

Guided Tours at LENTOS: 5 - 9 September 2013, starts at 2.30pm in the Festivalcity

The Department of Art Education at University of Art and Design Linz contributes to this year's Ars Electronica Festival with the Lichtlabor, an open lab where young festival visitors can experience light design and light painting in two workshops. The workshops were developed together with media artist Philipp Luftensteiner and will be visited by light artist Waltraut Cooper. Every night, the workshop results will be presented on the facade of the Ars Electronica Center. In addition, LENTOS art museum offers an exclusive exploration of their current Olafur Eliasson exhibition.

You can find more information on the Lichtlabor website!
